

Gifts of Grain

When you support Growing Hope Globally, you make a difference in the lives of farmers around the world. Your gift makes it possible for our partners to provide farmers with the agricultural training and tools needed to increase harvests, earn extra income, and provide enough food to eat year-round.

Gifts of grain are a great way to support this work. If you wish to make a gift, please follow the steps below and consult your trusted tax advisor. There are limitations and Growing Hope Globally cannot provide tax advice.

1. Deliver the grain along with the Authorization to Sell letter to your local grain handling facility (advance notice is preferred). The letter on the following page instructs them to transfer title ownership of the grain to Growing Hope Globally. You are not selling the grain. Make sure you receive a copy of the delivery ticket confirming transfer of ownership of the grain to Growing Hope Globally.
2. Contact us at admin@growinghopeglobally.org to let us know that you have made a gift of grain. Please provide us with the following information so we can keep track of your donation.
 - Name of the grain handling facility and delivery ticket number
 - Your name, phone number and mailing address
 - If you wish to designate your gift through a Growing Project or to an overseas program, let us know. Find a list of programs in need of funding at growinghopeglobally.org/programs

Above: A farmer in West Africa harvests an abundant crop of millet thanks to improved planting practices

Below: A Michigan farmer harvests his wheat crop to support the work of Growing Hope Globally

Once funds are received, we will send you an acknowledgement of the gift, including its value. If you have any questions, please contact your local staff person or Lori O'Neil at (708) 574-4201 or loneil@growinghopeglobally.org

Dear Friend,

Thank you for your desire to make a gift of grain to Growing Hope Globally! Your gift will help us continue to serve farmers around the world as they grow lasting solutions to hunger.

In order to ensure that this process goes smoothly, please follow these steps:

1. Deliver the grain along with the authorization to sell letter on the following page to your local grain handling facility. Let them know that you are transferring ownership of the grain to Growing Hope Globally. Make sure you receive a copy of the delivery ticket.
2. Contact us at admin@growinghopeglobally.org to let us know that you have made a gift of grain. Please provide us with the following information so we can keep track of the donation
 - Name of the grain handling facility
 - Delivery ticket number
 - Your Name
 - Your Address
 - If you wish to designate your gift to a specific overseas program please let us know. Visit growinghopeglobally.org/programs/ for a list of programs in need of funding.
3. Once we receive the check, we will send you an acknowledgement of the gift, including its value.

Thank you for your support! If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact your local Growing Hope Globally staff person or contact Lori O'Neil at (708)505-4034, (708)574-4201 or loneil@growinghopeglobally.org

Sincerely,

Mark E. Swanson, Interim CEO